

I WENT TO A CIRCUS

Yesterday, I took a taxi with my family to central to see the circus.

Marion and Manus family also go with us. Inside the circus tent, there was a funny red-nose clown riding a little bike. He almost crashed into the crowd.

A box came along, and it said "danger, wild animal". Some people said don't open the box, but the clown still wanted to open it. My sister was scared. The clown used a rope to open the box. A little monkey came out first. Then, he heard something. And suddenly, a gorilla came out. But it is fake.
