

Camping under stars

I like the amazing universe. The universe has planets, stars and galaxies. The planets and stars form galaxies. Billions of galaxies form the universe. Stars also form constellations, the sun is also a star, too.

My dad wants to go camping because we want to see the stars. Constellations are groups of stars that people join with imaginary lines. We can also make constellations during the camping.

The universe is extraordinary awesome and beautiful. "He determines the number of stars and calls them each by name". (Psalm 147:4). I am looking forward to counting the stars with my mom and dad.
