There was once a faraway land, a land so special, many considered as a myth. This land was called Candyland which was purely made up of candies.

One day, some giants from Giant Mass were hungry and found Candyland. The smell of the city was so mouth - watering that the giants decided to eat all the delectable snacks. They gobbled the sweet chocolate houses, the lollipop windmills, even the marshmallow clouds!

Bite after bite, they soon devoured the whole land of Candyland! All except for one candy..... And that candy soon became the first candy of the human world!
