

My writing journey

My school encouraged everyone to read regularly.

Followed by a writing competition for students to participate voluntarily.

Stories or poems are required to be a hundred words exactly.

Sis started creating stories enthusiastically.

Her stories were written beautifully.

While I struggled with the “no more no less” rule with difficulty.

Bro praised sis on her creativity whilst laughing at my mistakes hysterically.

All this has inspired me to expand my vocabulary.

Unnecessary words were removed completely.

Hours were spent and stories with corresponding images were reviewed thoroughly.

My first poem was submitted finally.

Honest feedback is very much appreciated sincerely.
