

Sakura, a reminder of life

Author: Bethanie Cheng (5A)

Love is like cherry blossoms; it does not appear every day and everywhere. Be patient for its season to come.

When you take a closer look at the cherry blossom, you will notice many minuscule soft petals that are in different shades of white and pink, the flowers are almost pure white, tinged with the palest pink, especially near the stem. The scents are subtly sweet and refreshing.

Sakura reminds us that life is overwhelmingly beautiful, but that is also tragically short. Carpe diem and live life to your fullest as it was said “lost time is never found again”!
